Career development: part of the original "Graduation Project" committee in 2009 to develop curriculum, activities, and career exploration opportunities for high school students. PDE's new mandate in 2017 required schools to collect artifacts addressing specific career strands and standards. Data was collected in a crosswalk to determine what standards were being covered and assess gaps. Curriculum and programming was adjusted and/or created to address the data-driven needs of the district (2009- present).

Developed curriculum for 9th grade Family Consumer Science and 11th grade Personal Financial Literacy as a joint venture with a team comprised of department supervisors and selected school counselors. The developed lessons are co-taught by school counselors and classroom teachers to promote interdisciplinary relationships, curricular crossovers, and direct service to students (2010-present).

Initiated collaboration between school counseling and gifted services to promote interdisciplinary programming for students. Co-created a "Perfectionist Group" for gifted students. Created a needs assessment and developed monthly dialogue groups for students based on various topics they selected. Advocated for professional development that was relevant for both school counseling and gifted services, which resulted in an in-service offering of various college admissions personnel presenting information and meaningful dialogue (2014-present).

Eastern York Middle School - January, 2008 - August, 2008

Implemented a new Student Information System

Assisted in the development of an anti-bullying program and ran a relational aggression group for girls.
